THE AD. SIGN PAINTER

ONE OF THEM RELATES CHAPTERS FROM HIS EXPERIENCE.

How He Managed to Advertise on the Walls of Fort Sumter—When the Bees Objected—Let a Farmer Blow His Steam Off—An Obliging Steamboatman.

The experience of a sign painter at Fort Sumter makes a diverting story:

'You see, I got a darky to take me over from Charleston in one of those little boats that they sail down there closer to the wind than anything I ever saw before. The fort was unoccupied except by an old soldier, who showed me all over the place. 'Have a drink, corporal?' said I to him after awhile. 'No objections,' said he, and we walked and talked a little further. 'Pretty lonesome here, eh, sergeant?' 'Very, indeed,' answered the old duck, warming to me as I breathed him a grade higher every two or three minutes.

"'Ah,' said I, 'it's a tough old biz, the army, ain't it, lieutenant?' 'Faith, and it is, upon me life,' said he.

"Well, I brought my flask out again and pressed it upon him. 'Now, look here, captain,' said I, 'you don't mind me painting a sign around the old fort, do you?' 'Not a bit, my son. Paint as much as ye plaze,' he answered quite willingly, and away I went to work, finishing the lettering before sundown.

"That little business nearly got me into trouble, and I left Charleston in a hurry. Nearly as bad was the time I was painting on a beehive. I was walking along the railway track with my pots and brushes and saw the hive, which was in an open position, bound to be seen by everybody in the trains. I stole up to it and slathered on the paint, taking care not to make much noise. Buz-z-z! One little fellow came to look at me, then another, then another and then a score or more all at once. They didn't seem to object—in fact, seemed to admire the richness of the coloring—but in slinging my leg over the top of the hive I upset my can of turpentine, and not one bee in the crowd would listen to a word of reason. I was laid up for a week or two after that, but I can't be quiet long. It ain't in me to be still. I'm an out and out Yankee, and it warms my heart to be off with the paints, and it ain't incumbent upon me now."

He added this with a complacent and pregnant glance at his massive watch chain and jeweled sleeve buttons, which indicated no little prosperity.

"When anybody gets his back up at me, I just let him blow his steam off, and then I talk to him," he continued. "Down in Maryland one day I was painting a fence, and a fellow working in a field near by hollered out: 'Hi! Git away from that yar fence!' I let on not to hear him. 'You git now!' the old man shouted once more, but I dabbed and dabbed away as industriously as ever. 'You won't, won't yer?' said he, and then he came for me with a pitchfork in his hands. Folks in Maryland are generally pretty much in earnest when they are mad, but I didn't move an inch. He'd have lifted me like a piece of toast if I had, and instead of a toast it would have been a roast for me.

"I looked as mild and innocent as I could, shaped out the letters and held my head back now and then as if to study the effect. 'Don't you like it?' said I as he got up to me. Well, he met me with some high seasoned expostulations; but, as I told you, I never interfere with a man when he's blowing off steam, it isn't safe. The pitchfork did not look salubrious, but I held to my work, and as I was finishing it he began to cool off and at the same time to take an interest in the sign. 'Got a family?' said I. 'Yes,' said he. 'Young uns, too, maybe.' 'Ye,' said he again. 'Well, now,' said I, 'ain't you ashamed of yourself to let your temper get the better of you in this way? Think of the bad effect on your children. But I'll paint out 'No,' here in a minute, stranger; I [illegible] and we were [illegible] when anger [illegible] best not [illegible]

—is the condition of our system if the liver becomes inactive so that the germs and poisons can accumulate within the body. Keep the liver and bowels active and we're in a condition of healthy prosperity and have sufficiently well invested capital to draw upon in the hour of need. The liver filters out the poisonous germs which enter the system. Just so surely as the liver regulates the system, so do Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the liver. Keep this in mind, and you solve the problem of good health and good living. The "Pleasant Pellets" have a tonic, strengthening effect upon the lining membranes of the stomach and bowels, which effectually cures Biliousness, Sick Headache, Costiveness, or Constipation, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Bad Taste in Mouth, Sour Risings from Stomach, and will often cure Dyspepsia. The "Pellets" are tiny, because the vegetable extracts are refined and concentrated. Easy in action, no griping as with old-fashioned pills. As a "dinner pill," to promote digestion, take one each day after dinner. To relieve the distress arising from overeating, nothing equals one of these little "Pellets."

Mrs. MELISSA ATWATER, of Steuben, Washington Co., Me., writes: "As regards the little 'Pellets,' I think I could not do without them. I do not like to be without them in the house. I have spoken very highly to friends and neighbors of them, and many are taking them through my advertising them. I will say they are the best pill I can take, especially for an after-dinner pill, I think they have no equal."

COST TO RUN A SHIP.

THE BIG ST. LOUIS REQUIRES $80,000 FOR THE ROUND TRIP.

She Burns $15,000 Worth of Coal—The Bill For Breakage Is No Small Affair. Salaries of Officers and Men Are Small, but Some of Them Get Large Fees.

The cost of running a big ocean greyhound to Europe and back reaches into the thousands. A transatlantic liner is really a floating hotel, and everything on board is conducted on the same scale of luxuriousness that is found in a fashionable Fifth avenue hotel.

Clement A. Griscom, Jr., son of the president of the line controlling the St. Louis, agreed to give some figures to a World reporter covering the expense of her voyage to England and back. He figured for some time and then said that the expenses of the round trip of a steamer like the St. Louis average between $60,000 and $80,000, according to the season.

The voyage between the two ports takes a trifle more than seven days, making the daily cost of operating in the busy season something like $5,500.

No single individual on the St. Louis gets a large salary. The captain heads the list, getting about $5,000 a year. Captains on smaller passenger steamers only receive $3,000 a year. The chief officer of a ship like the St. Louis gets $1,500, and the bulk of the heavy work really falls on his shoulders. The second officer's pay ranges from $900 to $1,200, according to the size of the ship, while the third and fourth officers only get from $600 to $900. All of these men have to perform duties of a responsible kind, and as there are no bonuses attached to their work it can be seen that they are not overpaid.

The crew of the St. Louis numbers 410 men. Two hundred of these are in the engineer's department, and all of them are directly under the authority of the chief. The steward's department is the next largest, numbering 170 in all. The sailors, including the deck officers, number but 40.

The engineer's department is the most expensive on the ship, owing to the immense coal bills. The St. Louis burns more than 300 tons a day, or about 1,500 tons the round trip. This means an expenditure of $15,000 alone. The salaries of the men, the engineering supplies, including the thousand and one things needed for the vast machinery of a great ship, will require an expenditure of $5,000 every round trip.

The chief engineer draws $3,000 a year, and his immediate assistants receive $1,500, $1,200 and $1,000 respectively. The stokers or firemen average about $50 a month, and the furnaces of the St. Louis require 160 of them working in different shifts.

The purser, who is a most important person on board, does not get much in the shape of salary, as the company in fixing his pay figured on the large commissions he receives for changing money and performing the little services which the wealthy traveler does not hesitate to pay for liberally. His salary is only $1,500 a year, but he makes another $2,000 in fees and sometimes considerably more.

The ship's surgeon only receives $900 a year for the same reason. He is brought in contact with numerous real and fancied invalids of the wealthy class, and although no one is compelled to fee him few fail to do so, and a big, popular ship like the St. Louis is worth to him at least $3,000 to $4,000 a year.

The steward's department is one of the costliest on the ship. The provisions for a round trip cost in the neighborhood of $12,000, and the salaries of the stewards men amount to $3,000 more. The stewards are the least paid of any on the ship, for the reason that in the fees of the passengers they collect a considerable sum annually. All the pay they get is $30 a month, but they take in $10 a month in tips. The seasick man and woman are always willing to give their last cent for some little service.

The chief steward receives $1,500 a year and also comes in for his share of the tips, as it is within his power to place many delicacies in the way of the liberal tourist.

The chief cook is a great man on the ship, almost as great as the captain, and in all makes $3,000 a year out of his job.

The breakage and wear and tear on the ship and its furniture are very heavy, requiring an expenditure in incidentals of about $5,000 each round trip. There are countless things to be replaced, and a comparatively little thing like the washing of the ship's linen means an expenditure big enough to support a man for a year in the lap of luxury.

Here are some odd facts about the St. Louis: There are fully 1,000 tons of piping of various kinds in the ship. The condensers will pump up at least 50,000,000 gallons of cool water a day. The furnaces will consume no less than 1,500,000 cubic feet of air an hour. The boiler tubes, if placed in a straight line, would stretch nearly 10 miles and the ventilator tubes more than 25 miles. The total number of separate pieces of steel in the main structure of the ship is not less than 40,000, and the total number of cubic feet of timber used in the construction is more than 100,000. The total number of rivets is not far from 1,250,000.—New York World.

A Suspicious Title.

In Chicago—"The scoundrel addressed a letter to me 'John Smith, B. A.,'" exclaimed the city father wrathfully.

"What of it?"

"What of it? What does 'B. A.' stand for?"

"Bachelor of arts. He thought you were a college graduate."

"Oh, that's it, is it? I thought it meant 'boodle alderman.'"—Chicago Times-Herald.

It Seems She Did.

"I think I'll lay low," said the hen.

And shortly afterward there was a loud cackling heard in Farmer Bilby's cellar.—Chicago Tribune.

Fulfilled In Time.

HAY SALT.

FINE GROUND SALT FOR HAY. To salt hay properly, put up the hay, when partly cured and use five pounds of fine salt per ton of hay. The moisture in the hay will then dissolve the salt into a brine which in turn will cure and preserve the hay and add to its weight. Animals will eat it with relish and consume all that is eatable. All will be benefitted. An ordinary animal will eat about one-half ton of hay per month, so that if hay is salted with five pound of salt and dissolved and taken up by the hay as it should be each animal will get two-and-one-half pounds of salt per month and that is enough. The animals will be healthier and you will make better beef and better mutton. The merchants of Reno will furnish the salt to consumers and I will sell to consumers at $16 per ton at the S. P. Depot. The salt will cost the farmers 4 cents per ton of hay. The merchants and farmers will all make money as all do who buy from me.

My Eagle Salt is 1.39 per cent purer than Higgins' Liverpool. So certified by J. Warne Phillips Chemist of the University of Nevada.
